DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on June 11, 2007 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claim 11 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

More specifically, claim 11 is dependent upon canceled claim 10. Therefore the metes and bounds for which patent protection is being sought are not clear.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

5. Claims 1, 3-6, 12, and 43-47 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over PCT Publication WO 03/008680 A1 (Sen) in view of PCT Publication WO 93/15251 (Gessner) for reasons of record.

Sen teaches a fiber comprising a segmented thermoplastic elastomeric polymer and an uncrosslinked olefinic thermoplastic elastomeric polymer, said olefinic thermoplastic elastomeric polymer being an ethylene copolymer such as ethylene/1-octane copolymer, per claim 1. In addition, Sen teaches that the copolymer is present in an amount within applicants' range as required by claim 12. See Example 2A. Also, Sen teaches that the thermoplastic elastomeric polymer can be of the type contemplated by applicants in claims 3-6, such as a poly(ether amide) or poly(ether ester). See page 7, lines 3-14. Sen also teaches the formation of fabrics and that a surfactant can be included as required by claims 44 and 47. See page 8, line 2 and page 19, line 1. Sen does not teach the specific propylene of claim 1. Gessner teaches the formation of fabrics, garments and hygiene articles (claims 44-46) comprising filaments formed from thermoplastic elastomers such as propylene based polymers of the type contemplated by applicants. See page 10. In addition, Gessner teaches that his articles have improved elastic recovery properties. It would have been obvious to modify the teachings of Sen by substituting his olefinic thermoplastic elastomer with the olefinic thermoplastic elastomer taught by Gessner with the reasonable expectation of success of obtaining articles having improved elastic recovery. As to the particular type of propylene, it would have been obvious to the skilled artisan to use any propylene known in the art to have elastic recovery properties with the reasonable expectation of success and in the absence of clear evidence of superior or unexpected properties of the resultant fiber, said properties being directly related to the particular propylene.

Therefore, the combined teachings of Sen and Gessner would have rendered obvious the invention as claimed in present claims 1, 3-6, 12, and 43-47.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments filed June 11, 2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. In particular, the combined teachings of Sen and Gessner would have provided a suggestion to the skilled artisan for the instant claimed invention. As to the propylene homopolymer being dispersed in a matrix of the segmented thermoplastic, elastomeric polymer, there is no factual evidence on this record that the propylene homopolymer of the prior art is not dispersed within the segmented polymer.

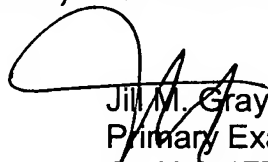

No claims are allowed.
